LONDON, Jan. 22—Those who have predicted that Gas. Pendergast's conquest of Barmah would not be followed by its absorption into British India, are now shown to be very much out in their calculations. The government will signalize the new year by issuing a proclamation signed by commund of her majesty both as upon the proclamation is addressed to all the inhabitants of Great Britain and India, who are thereby notified that all territories formerly governed by King. Theebaw are no longer under his rule but have become in part of her majesty's dominates by officers appointed by the viceroy of India. There is no mantion of a protectorate or even of annexation. It is a plain and simple appropriation by conquest of a territory equal in area to all New England, with New Yore, Panualyivania, O.Jo over four millions. As to the Disappearance of A. T. Cox.

As to the Disappearance of A. T. Cex.

Nothing additional has been learned as to the disappearance of Mr. A. T. Cox since yesterday's issue. Parties were engaged all during the day dragging and seining in the river below the wharf in hopes of finding his body. The belief has grown that he committed suicide. It may be, however, that he boarded some of the packets which passed here at that hour of the night, but this is hardly probable in view of the fact that his hat was found on the shore. Some few advance the theory that he way have met with foul play while on the streets at that hour of the night, but the idea is given but little credit.

Torture in Russian Prisons.

A Nihilist imprisoned in the Troubletskoi Bastion has managed to communicate with the outside world. He says the cate with the outside world. He sayathe prisoners are almost starwed on mouldy food. Disagreeable diseases prevail. The use of combs and soap is forbidden. Jailors are cruel. Vermin are abundant. Rats often eat dying prisoners. This is almost as bad, as dyspepsia. But the torments of dyspepsia need not always be endured, for Brown's Iron Bitters will conquer the disease. Mrs. Williams, of Starkville, Miss., was tormented with dyspepsia, and her daughter with debity. Brown's Iron Bitters relieved both.
